

On 7th December 2024, The Compendium, under the guidance of the Dean, Student Council & Clubs (SC & C), conducted an engaging session titled “Design for Everyone Workshop” at the TIIC Centre, IARE. This no-cost initiative was aimed at B.Tech students from the first, third, and fifth semesters and witnessed an enthusiastic turnout of around 200 participants.

The workshop was led by U. Abhishek, who brought valuable insights into the world of design. The session primarily focused on the fundamentals of graphic design and poster creation, covering essential principles and techniques that form the foundation of visual communication. From color theory and layout design to typography and tool usage, participants were introduced to a wide range of design elements crucial for creating impactful visuals. As laptops were made mandatory, the workshop offered a highly practical, hands-on experience, enabling students to follow along and experiment in real-time.

What made this event particularly effective was its accessibility—whether someone was just starting out or looking to enhance their existing skills, the session catered to all levels of learners. It also emphasized the importance of design in areas such as branding, digital content creation, and web interfaces, highlighting its role in the broader tech landscape.

By the end, the workshop received overwhelmingly positive feedback. Students appreciated the clear explanations, real-time demonstrations, and opportunity to apply their learning immediately. Their input and enthusiasm further encouraged The Compendium to organize more skill-building sessions in the future.

VIBE CODING – WEB DEVELOPMENT THROUGH AI TOOL

On 29th March 2025, The Compendium, under the guidance of the Dean, Student Council & Clubs (SC&C), hosted an insightful and hands-on workshop titled “Vibe Coding – Web Development through AI Tools” at the TIIC Centre, IARE. Scheduled from 2:00 PM to 4:00 PM, the session was open to B.Tech students from the second and fourth semesters, and saw an impressive turnout of over 200 enthusiastic participants. The workshop was completely free of cost, ensuring accessibility for all interested students.

The session was led by Charan Yelimela, who served as both the speaker and mentor. He introduced attendees to the evolving world of website development using advanced AI tools such as Cursor, Claude, and others. His demonstrations focused on building fully functional websites without writing traditional code, showcasing how artificial intelligence is revolutionizing the way web applications are created. To maximize the learning experience, participants were required to bring their laptops for hands-on practice.

The workshop aimed to simplify web development for beginners and non-programmers by highlighting how AI can streamline the design and deployment process. It empowered students to explore creative solutions without being limited by technical coding barriers. The interactive nature of the event, coupled with live demonstrations, made it both engaging and educational.

“Vibe Coding” successfully sparked interest in AI-driven development, equipping attendees with valuable, future-ready skills. The positive feedback and enthusiasm from participants encouraged The Compendium to continue organizing similar initiatives that blend technology and innovation for the student community.

COURTROOM CONUNDRUM

On the 11th and 12th of April 2025, The Compendium, in collaboration with Citadel and under the guidance of the Dean, Student Council & Clubs (SC&C), organized an innovative and immersive experience titled "Courtroom Conundrum" at the TIIC Centre, IARE. The event, open to students from the second, fourth, and sixth semesters of the B.Tech program, was conducted over two days and saw active participation from more than 50 attendees.

The first day began with an introduction to the structure of the event, followed by the unveiling of a fictional legal case. Participants were grouped, given roles, and were also given time to prepare their arguments, setting the stage for the courtroom simulation. It was a day of planning, interesting decisions, as well as conversations among participants! The first day set up for the real action of Day 2!

The second day brought the setup to life, as teams stepped into the roles of prosecution, defense, and jury, engaging in passionate arguments, cross-examinations, and deliberations. It was like a courtroom scene from a movie unfolding right before your eyes. Then, after assessing the enthusiasm, eloquence and sharpness of each participant, the brilliant winners were decided - K. Prachita and Amgoth Ajay Nayak.

The proceedings concluded with a final verdict, delivered under the observation of judges Mr. M. Sai Charan and Ms. M. Yasasvi, who ensured a realistic and professional atmosphere throughout. "Courtroom Conundrum" was praised for its original concept and ability to foster essential soft skills such as analytical reasoning, confident speaking, and collaborative thinking

STATE VS A NOBODY

On 26th April 2025, The Compendium, under the guidance of the Dean, SC&C, successfully hosted a thought-provoking law awareness event titled "State V/s A Nobody" at the Sangeeth Auditorium, IARE. Open to B.Tech students of the II, IV, and VI semesters, the event saw an enthusiastic participation of over 300 students. Remarkably, the initiative was completely free of cost, reinforcing its intent to make legal literacy accessible to all.

On 26th April 2025, The Compendium, under the guidance of the Dean, SC&C, successfully hosted a thought-provoking law awareness event titled "State V/s A Nobody" at the Sangeeth Auditorium, IARE. The event saw an enthusiastic participation of over 300 students. The session was graced by two esteemed legal professionals — Ms. Navitha (M.Sc., LL.B) and Mr. P.B.N Venu (B.Com., MBA, LL.B) — both of whom brought their rich legal expertise and real-world experience to the platform. Their engaging style and interactive approach fostered a dynamic learning atmosphere that kept the audience absorbed throughout.

The event centered around imparting fundamental legal awareness, empowering students with crucial knowledge of their rights, duties, and frequently encountered laws in daily life. By weaving in practical examples and relatable scenarios, the speakers ensured that students could connect theoretical legal concepts to real-world contexts. This not only enhanced their understanding of the legal system but also bolstered their confidence in navigating legal situations. One of the highlights of the session was the open forum, where students actively posed questions and received clarifications on various legal doubts.

The overwhelming positive feedback from attendees underscored the success and impact of the event. Students expressed deep appreciation for the practical relevance and clarity the session offered, and many voiced a desire for more such informative initiatives. Inspired by this success, The Compendium aims to continue its journey of creating awareness and fostering informed, capable individuals.

THE COMPENDIUM LIVE

On the 19th of July, 2025, the Compendium introduced its members to one of its biggest developments yet- The Compendium Official Website! The AV Centre of IARE was brimming with excitement among all the members present there about the wide scope of potential that this website would bring to the future of the Club!

A single forum for every news article, social media post, newspaper publication, and magazine edition- this website is a guarantee for enabling The Compendium to make sure that every student of IARE has a place to be updated on the major happenings both within IARE and across the globe. This website also provides a platform for students to express their opinion, have their voice heard and be able to join a community of peers within an ecosystem that supports and encourages their passions and interests. Spearheaded by Mr. K. Yagnesh Reddy (President of Compendium) and Mr. Mule Bharath (Creative Director of Compendium), this launch set forward a new chapter of The Compendium- a chapter of stepping forward and fully embracing the world of Technology and integrating it with the media work that defines The Compendium.

This session also covered some other essential bits about the future of the club- the hierarchy and functioning of the club, an orientation for the new members of the club and the domain heads, as well as the plans, roles and opportunities that are there in store for the future! To close out this session, some interactive activities were held for team-bonding and there was an open forum for idea-sharing, feedback, and insightful discussions among the members of the club. Overall, this session served as a bridge into the future of The Compendium IARE- a future which holds fun, enlightenment, community, and most importantly, outreach!
